Lord Byron als Sportsman by Dr. Carl Diem (Comel Verlag, Köln). Lord Byron, always considered as a great poet and acknowledged as such by German Literature (even Goethe appreciated him highly) is shown to us in this book under a totally different light than the Lord Byron generally known. His personal contacts with sport have been brought to light unmistakably by the author. While revealing a new side to the personality of Lord Byron he has contrived to enrich his narrative by numerous interesting new facts on the life of the poet.

This booklet can be obtained from the publisher at Cologne. It contains 128 pages, costs marks 3.80 and is published in English as well.
