Mr. Paul-E. Martin, historian and director of the State Records, professor and late rector at the University, editor of the Swiss Review of History, at Geneva, states:

« Thanks to the ample field of his researches, Mr. Burgener's work is a full compendium of all that concerns gymnastics, both in their relations with the authorities, and as a vital element of national education in Switzerland. It will therefore prove an invaluable guide, not only on the historical plan, but in most pedagogical and civic problems that arise in modern education. »

Mr. Louis Perrochon, inspector of gymnastics, at Lausanne, states:

« Mr. Burgener has entered upon his task conformably to the historical method. He has collected and studied thirty thousand documents and thousands of publications. He has made his researches with intelligence, discrimination, a real interest and objectivity, without overlooking the slightest details if they were conducive to a clear decision.

» It is therefore a conspicuous service that Mr. Burgener has done in publishing this thesis setting forth to the public and the academic world the development and results of the activity of the State on behalf of physical education in Switzerland. »

A conspicuous work recommended to all: Public libraries, Universities, Schools; Medical, historical, and pedagogical Sciences; Professors and teachers of all grades; Educational authorities, inspectors, educational boards; Sports and gymnastics associations; States, legations, war-offices, educational offices.
