

The VIIth Winter Olympic Games are coming to an end while we have to bring this edition under press. We shall give a better account in our next Bulletin. In the meanwhile we may say that they were a full success in all point of views : the Italian National Olympic Committee deserves congratulations from everyone concerned.