

RECTIFICATION

In our last issue of the Bulletin No 57, page 66 (English version) under the rubric « Press comments” the following statement was wrongly attributed to Mr. Avery Brundage when he was alleged to have said

”Competitive athletics have reached a level where amateurism is of no further use”.

Needless to say that the President of the International Olympic Committee never uttered such a phrase, that statement having been given by the press, his opinion being exactly the reverse. All those who know him and his views have made the rectification of this error of their own accord. Nevertheless, we apologize to Mr. Brundage for this unintentional slip.
