

Statement given by the President of the International Olympic Committee to 'United Press' in Chicago on January 21, 1959

Freedom from politics is the foundation of international sport. In the Olympic Movement it is not Governments, but sports organizations that are recognized. The International Olympic Committee has always fought for this fundamental principle and deplors any effort to introduce politics into international sport.

Avery Brundage.