

It has been forgotten that...

Baron de Coubertin's idea was, not primarily to win medals in the Olympic Games but to built stronger and healthier boys and girls, and to make better citizens ; not to develop a sports elite but to produce well balanced men and women, in the ancient Greek sense, who play for recreation and the joy of accomplishment and not for money or national prestige.