

The Games of the XVIIIth Olympiad, Tokyo 1964

New Olympic poster issued

A third Olympic poster has been issued by the Organizing Committee.

The new poster, which has been called 'another masterpiece' is also the work of famed graphic designer Yusaku Kamekura. Kamekura was ably assisted by photo director Jo Murakoshi and photographer Osamu Hayasaki.

The man in the picture is Koji Iwamoto, a student of Waseda University. He is one of the representative butterfly stroke swimmers of Japan who may participate in the forthcoming Games.

Equine certification and quarantine Rules

This article concerns equine import and quarantine rules adopted for the equestrian events. It is compiled from information contained in correspondence exchanged between the Secretary General of the Olympic Organization Committee and the President of the International Equestrian Federation (I.E.F.).

1. Import of Horses

Entry permission would be granted for horses from any country, including those coming from or through South Korea, North Asia (Siberia), where information on infectious diseases of domestic animals is considered to be reliable. Authorization will not be granted for horses coming from or through mainland China (including Manchuria, Inner Mongolia, Tibet, except Taiwan) and North Korea where available data is not considered reliable. (This ruling was made without political intent and was based solely upon the comprehensiveness of available information concerning the incidence of infectious disease in domestic animals.) In this connection, it should also be noted the People's Republic of China and the Democratic People's Republic of Korea are not, respectively, members of the International Equestrian Federation.

No special quarantine will be instituted for the horses to be imported from South Korea and North Asia (Siberia).

2. Quarantine of Horses

It should be stressed that the following two items must be answered satisfactorily on the certificate covering each horse and its country of origin :

- a) That the horse does not carry any infectious disease such as pest, glanders, epizootic lymphangitis, Borna, etc. ;
- b) That the horse has been in a region free of such infectious diseases for not less than three months before arriving in Japan.

A five day quarantine period upon arrival should be necessary for horses with a certificate satisfactorily covering items a) and b) ; ten days should be necessary for horses with certificates in which only item a) is in satisfactory order. Training may be undertaken during the quarantine period, and the Olympic Organization Committee will pay the required expenses for persons and horses placed in special quarantine for a designated period to avoid the possible spread of disease or the contracting of any disease.

N.B.

While it does not directly concern the quarantine rules, it should be noted that it is advisable for horses participating in the Tokyo Games to arrive in Tokyo, not less than days prior to the opening of the equestrian events. This will allow the horses sufficient rest and enough time to get used to the Japanese climate, which is quite different from that of other countries.

International Athletic Amateur Federation Qualification Standards

ENTRIES a) Individual competitions

With the exception of the Marathon, the 20 kilometer and the 50 kilometer walks, each nation has the right to enter one competitor, irrespective of his or her ability to attain the qualifying standard, in each event.

A second and a third competitor may be entered by a nation provided that all reach the qualifying standard for the event. Where second or third competitors are entered, the attainment of this standard by the first competitor is obligatory. These standards must have been reached between 1st October, 1963 and 30th September, 1964, in accordance with the decision of the International Athletic Amateur Federation Council on 29th April, 1963. The International Athletic Amateur Federation alone shall decide the acceptability of entries made under the qualification conditions.

Each nation may enter up to 3 competitors in each of the Marathon, the 20 kilometer and 50 kilometer walks without restriction as to performances previously recorded. So reserves may be entered and no substitution of competitors is permitted in any individual competition.

b) Team competitions

A nation can enter one team only for each scheduled relay event. So minimum performance standard is set for the relay events.

Entries for the relay teams may comprise up to six competitors of whom 1 will compete in the actual events.

In no case and for no reason whatsoever will substitutions be permitted with athletes other than those entered as reserves for that specific competition.
