

- The 1976 press centre will be made up of two new adjoining buildings: the Academy of Training and the building of the Innsbruck Urban Transport, which assures their reconversion after the Games. Sited at the foot of the Bergisel and the ski jump, they are also in the middle of the other competition sites. Their building started last May and autumn and will be finished for the summer of 1975.
- In accordance with the IOC's wishes, the COJO hopes to be able to keep the number of accreditations at about 1200, the number reached in 1964, and which it considers as an optimum number to be able to offer everyone the best working conditions possible.