

Another look at disqualifications

At its meeting in Abidjan, the IOC Executive Board studied the question of doping disqualifications and, especially, the consequent effect to the final results table.

Due to the varying regulations on the subject, the Executive Board decided to respect the ruling of each International Federation with regard to this particular point.

Following the disqualifications of certain weightlifters at the Montreal Olympic Games (see our No. 109-110, page 583), the International Weightlifting Federation modified the results lists by attributing the vacant places to the next competitors, whether or not they had been tested for doping.

We therefore publish below the complete final results of the 1976 Olympic weightlifting events, which replace those printed in "Olympic Review" No. 107-108, pages 503 and 504.
