

NEWS

The IOC President's Sport Science Prize, instituted by the International Council for Physical Education and Sport Science (ICPESS) was awarded to Barbara Sternfeld, research fellow at the Kaiser Medical Care Program in California, in recognition for her study on "Exercise during pregnancy and its results". Paavo V. Komi (left) and Andre Noel Chaker (right), ICPESS president and secretary general, respectively, attended the ceremony, which was held at IOC headquarters in Lausanne.