

NEWS

Korea

During the annual ceremony of the Korean Sports Association, Dr. Un Yong Kim, IOC member and Korean NOC president, presented the Sportswoman of the Year trophy to Kyung-Wook Kim, who won two gold medals in the archery competition at the Games of the XXVI Olympiad in Atlanta. Commemorative medals and other souvenirs were also given to all the women who had taken part in the Centennial Olympic Games.

(From left to right) Sung-jip Kim, NOC vice-president, Kwan-Sik Min, honorary president of the Korean sports confederation, Kyung-Wook Kim, Dr. Un Yong Kim, Kyung-Ja Cho, president of the Korean women's sports association, Sook-Ja Kim, president of the Korean association for physical education for women, and Chang-Shin Choi, deputy minister for culture and sports.

