The NOC held an Olympic Colloquium in Cooperation with the Metula Local Council and the Upper Galilee District Council. The participants attended lectures by Shlomit Tor, about the athlete's point of view regarding the Olympic Games, Yoram Oberkovic, about the tasks and functions of the NOC, and Yossi Goldberg about the Olympic Winter Games.

On the occasion of the Second International Post-Olympic Symposium held at the Wingate Institute, attended by more than 80 guests from 33 countries, the IOC Centennial Olympic Games trophy was awarded to Shmuel Lalkin (pictured below), formerly director general of the Israeli Sports Federation for more than 30 years.
