

In 2000, the NOCs awarded the IOC Sport and Universality trophy to numerous personalities from their respective countries, in recognition of their contribution to the universal promotion of Olympism and sport. The Olympic Review publishes the latest photos of the presentations.

(left) Carlos Carmo Andrade, Brazilian Minister for Sports and Tourism, holding the IOC trophy alongside Carlos Arthur Nuzman, IOC member and NOC president.

Ismail Hamed Osman, vice-president of the International Amateur Boxing Association and president of the Egyptian Boxing Federation (right), receives the trophy from IOC member Mounir Sabet.

Benjamin Ruír Rodas (second from right), president of the El Salvador NOC, awards the trophy to Enrique Molins Rubio (left.).

Justice Rudolph Harper, former president of the Guyana NOC, receives the trophy from K.A. Juman Yassin, the president in office.

(From l. to r.) Yoram Oberkovich, the new President of the Israeli NOC; IOC member Alex Gilady, receiving the trophy; and former NOC President Zvi Varshaviak.

Sri Hamzah Bin Haji Abu Samah (left), IOC member in Malaysia, presents the trophy to Sri Khir Johari, deputy NOC president, former Education Minister and former Ambassador to the United Nations.

Dragan Kicanovic (right), the president of the Yugoslav NOC, awards the trophy to sports journalist Nebojsa Popovic, former basketball player, coach and sports leader.