

PRESENTATIONS AT CONFERENCE '86, GLASGOW

The VIII Commonwealth and International Conference on Sport, Physical Education: and Dance, Recreation and Health
18-23 July, 1986
held in conjunction with
The XIII Commonwealth Games, Scotland - 24 July - 2 August, 1986

Theme: Sociological and Historical Perspectives
Historical Section

Keynote Address

- J. Perkin (North Western University, U.S.A.) Sport and Society: Empire into Commonwealth.
- J. Bale (University of Keele, England) Athletic aliens in academe.
- S. J. Bandy (University of California, U.S.A.) A historical perspective of the relation of physical education and higher education in the United States.
- M. L. Howell (University of Queensland, Australia) The effects of acculturation on the Aborigine: a case study of the sport of cricket.
- R. A. Howell (University of Queensland, Australia) Diffusion of Sport: the Queensland pattern 1850-1900.
- J. Dewar (University of Saskatchewan, Canada) The introduction of Western sports to the Indian people of Canada's prairie west.
- A. K. Seward (Department of Home Affairs, Papua New Guinea) An attempt to perpetuate a cultural identity through traditional games in the face of the influence of Western sports in Papua New Guinea.
- M. J. Kane (University of Illinois, U.S.A.) The impact of Title IX on the modern female athlete: you've come a long way baby?
- H. F. Moorehouse (University of Glasgow, Scotland) Repressed nationalism and professional football: Scotland versus England.
- R. B. Small (Scottish School of Physical Education, Scotland) The pioneers of physical education in Scotland.
- G. Jarvie (Carnegie School, Leeds Polytechnic, England) Highland gatherings, historical sociology and sport.
- J. A. Maguire (West Sussex Institute of Higher Education, England) Conceptual and methodological confusion in analysis of nineteenth century working class leisure - a case for historical sociology.
- B. Stoddart (Canberra College of Advanced Education, Australia) Cricket, social formation and cultural continuity in Barbados: a preliminary ethnohistory.
- M. D. W. Tozer (Uppingham School, England) Imperial manliness: E. W. Hornung and the 'game of life'.

- K. Moore (Queen's University, Belfast, Northern Ireland) The 1911 Festival of Empire: a final fling?
- D. Kirk (University of Queensland, Australia) Physical education in the school curriculum: an historico-cultural analysis.
- D. Jedan (Murray State University, U.S.A.) A Utopian society: the importance of physical exercises and gymnastics in the educational curriculum of Robert Owne's and Joseph Neef's New Harmony, Indiana schools.
- K. Karlsrud (Consultant, Oslo State Prison, Norway) Physical activity, activity for life in Soviet Caucasus.
- J. Riordan (University of Bradford, England) Physical Education in the Soviet School.
- J. M. Grimes (Murray State University, U.S.A.) The concept of competition and winning in the development of Herman Hesse's glass bead game.
- J. Hill (Trent Polytechnic, England) The development of professionalism in English league cricket.
- E. M. McIntyre (Loughborough Technical College, England) Pedestrianism to the Trust Fund - Athletics in its historical and social contexts.
- R. Anderson (University of Edinburgh, Scotland) The Development of athletes in Scottish Universities 1860-1939.
- G. A. Olafson (University of Windsor, Canada) Canadian international sport policy and the Gleneagles Agreement.
- C. Loughlan and J. A. Mangan (University of Glasgow, Scotland) Fashion and Fealty: The Glasgow bourgeoisie, middle class schools and social change.

Major Address

- A. Krüger (Institut für Sportwissenschaftler, West Germany) The influence of the state sport of Fascist Italy on Nazi Germany.
- W. J. Murray (La Trobe University, Australia) 1936-1939 The Case of France.
- E. A. Wright (Huddersfield Polytechnic, England) Education, sport and militarism in Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany.

N.B.: The Proceedings of the Socio-Historical Section of Conference '86 have been published. Contact: Bernard Wright, Conference '86 Director, Scottish School of Physical Education, Jordanhill College of Education, Southbrae Drive, GLASGOW, G13 1PP, Scotland.