

SPAIN SEEKS GOLF HONORS

A new international angle to the quest for honors in the British open championship in June has just been added with the announcement that Spain will have at least one entry for the big event. Señor Angel de la Torre Valderrania of Madrid will fly Castillian colors in the tournament.

Valderannia is the open champion of Spain and is a golfer of no mean ability. Among his more noted accomplishments of an international flavor is a victory over Jean Gossiat, well known among French professionals. The Spaniard has already reached England and will begin at once to get himself into condition for the championship test.

With British, American, French and Spanish players in the field, the Deal tournament will present a decidedly international aspect.
