

Two New White Hopes

Philadelphia. Special dispatch to the "Baseball Bazoo."—In the presence of a large and highly excited audience at what was scheduled for a no-decision bout, One Round Magee knocked out Umpire Finneran in the first round. The rumor is that Magee will retire from his profession for some time to come in an effort to get into shape for a future meeting, as Umpire Finneran, it is rumored, is anxious for a return match.

Cincinnati. Special dispatch to the "Baseball Bazoo."—A new white man's hope has appeared on the horizon. At present his name is unknown, but a number of prominent men in this city have subscribed a purse, probably so that he may get proper training to take on a match with Jack Johnson in the autumn. Later. The name of this new white hope is Umpire Klem. It appears that Roger Bresnahan, who received the short end of the decision, has come out with a statement to the effect that he was doped at the time of the contest. This is the first and only time this excuse has ever been given in a fistic combat.
