

LA84

Foundation

---

Trade Note

The Baseball Magazine Co. is in receipt of the Draper-Maynard latest spring and summer catalogue of athletic goods. This year's D. & M. catalogue is profusely illustrated with cuts showing all kinds of baseball paraphernalia. The front cover is a three-colored illustration of Joe Jackson, the famous Chicago White Sox player. Joe is portrayed with his D. & M. mit. If the D. & M. mit is good enough for Joe Jackson it is certainly good enough for every boy in the country.

A glance at the index page of the catalogue shows it to contain not only illustrations and particulars, prices, etc., of baseball paraphernalia, bats and gloves, etc., but also there is a vast amount of descriptive material on many other sports. These other sports are: Tennis, basketball, football, soccer, snowshoeing, gym exercising, bathing, boxing. No doubt, every sporting goods retailer carrying the D.-M. line of goods has a supply of these catalogues on hand and a copy can doubtless be obtained at such stores.