Occasional Papers in Football Studies is a fully refereed journal that publishes work from the historical, sociological, geographical, political and cultural studies areas of any code of football played in the world. Each journal contains fully refereed articles, viewpoint articles and research essays that focus primarily on innovative and theoretical approaches to the study of the role of football codes in societies. In addition, commentaries and reviews will be published. It is intended to have two issues per year (normally in January/February and June/July), but publication will depend on the receipt of suitable material. Anyone wishing to review books or suggest books to be reviewed should contact the reviews editor directly. Those wishing to join the Football Studies Group should contact Dr Tara Magdalinski, Arts Faculty, Sunshine Coast University College, Locked Bag 4, Maroochydore South, Qld. 4558, Australia, email: magdalinski@scuc.edu.au. Membership of the Football Studies Group is $39 per year (individual) and $75 per year (institutional). The material published in OPFS is copyright of the Football Studies Group. Opinions expressed are those of individual authors and not necessarily those of the editors or the Football Studies Group. Reproduction without consent of the editor and individual author is not permitted. Submission guidelines follow at the end of the journal. The Football Studies Group was founded in 1997 by scholars based in Australia wishing to bring together researchers working on the world's major football codes and has expanded to include international membership from many countries.
