FOOTBALL STUDIES GROUP

The Football Studies Group was founded in 1997 to bring together scholars researching in the area of football studies. The Group was lunched at the inaugural Football Studies Conference, Football and Identities, held at The University of Queensland, Brisbane, Australia. Since then, the Football and Culture conference was held at the Victoria University of Technology, Melbourne, Australia and the third conference of the Football Studies Group was held on the Sunshine Coast in 1999.

The Group has an international membership with delegates researching diverse aspects of football. The aim of the Football Studies Group is to take an active role in the scholarship of football and will be a conduit for research and the dissemination of that research, through conferences, newsletters and the journal. In addition, the Group will foster greater cross-code and cross-cultural research and discussion of football's role in society.

Football Studies, the Journal of the Football Studies Group was the first journal devoted solely to the cultural, social, political and economic study of football codes. A limited number of back issues of the first volume remain.

Victorian Football Research Collective

In November 1999, a group of writers, researchers, librarians and academics from six Victorian Universities met to establish a group called the Football research Collective. Based upon the model of regional chapters operated by the Australian Society for Sports History, the intention of the Collective is to bring together football researchers in Victoria on a regular basis. The group usually meets in the homes of members every six to eight weeks throughout the year, with the aim of providing support, mutual encouragement and critical commentary on current projects being completed in the field of football studies (from all codes). The Collective is affiliated with the international Football Studies Group and also has a close relationship with the Australian Football Heritage Group.

For further information about the Collective and future meeting dates, contact the convener of the group, Rob Hess. Telephone: (03) 9688 4062, email: robert.hess@vu.edu.au.

CALL FOR PAPERS

ASSH SPECIAL STUDIES

SOCCER AND SOCIETY: AUSTRALIA AND THE WORLD

Edited by: Bill Murray, Latrobe University and Roy Hay, Deakin University

This volume in the ASSH Studies series provides an up-to-date survey and assessment of the state of play in research on the social history of soccer in Australia and its relationships with other countries, particularly those which have sent touring teams to Australia. The roles of migrants, ethnic groups and Australians of more than one generation are explored, overturning some widely held views about soccer in Australian society.

Several essays have already been submitted and others commissioned, but we would like to extend an invitation to scholars who might wish to submit an article for consideration to send it as an e-mail attachment to Roy Hay (haysoc@deakin.edu.au) by 31 October 2001. The volume will be published early in 2002.
