

Reviews Section:

Welcome from the Reviews Editor

As the new book reviews editor of International Sports Studies I applaud the decision by the senior editors to develop and expand this critical section of the journal. Book reviews are an integral component of quality scholarship. My aim is to establish, as quickly as possible, a highly respected book review section of the journal. To this end reviewers will be expected to meet the highest standards of analysis and evaluation. I also want the reviews section of International Sports Studies to be unique. To this end the section will review only pairs of books. Happily we can say that our field is now large enough, and its members productive enough, to accomplish this goal. Please send suggestions for reviews or offers to review to me at the address below.
