Three nations had both men and women compete in all sports: Canada, the Unified Team, and the United States. France, the host nation, lacked only women in the luge.

Three nations had more female competitors than male. The Netherlands had 10 women and 9 men on their team, DPR Korea (North) had 9 men and 11 women, while Honduras's lone athlete was a female cross-country skier. Lithuania also had an equal number by sex, with 3 men and 3 women.

Five nations had only a single competitor at Albertville in 1992: Bermuda, Honduras, Luxembourg, The Phillipines, and Swaziland. Of these, only Honduras' lone athlete was a woman.
