The journal survey service has undertaken the task of surveying completely all the journals under survey in order to identify as many articles on the history of sport as possible. The titles of sport history articles appear in this issue in place of the usual abstracts. Those articles designated by an asterisk (*) will be abstracted and printed in future issues of the Journal of Sport History. It was not possible to survey every journal back to its first issue at this time; however, the service will continue its diligent search to identify all the sport history articles and publish these titles at a later date.
