

B. North American Recreation, Dance and Physical Education

- Lewis, Robert. "Frontier and Civilization in the Thought of Frederick Law Olmsted," American Quarterly, 29, No. 4 (1977), 385-403.
- Montes, Gregory. "Balboa Park, 1909-1911: The Rise and Fall of the Olmsted Plan," Journal of San Diego History, 28, No. 1 (Winter 1982), 46-67.
- Hampton, Duane. "Opposition to National Parks," Journal of Forest History, 25 (January 1981).
- Hecht, Melvin E. "Climate and Culture, Landscape and Lifestyles in the Sun Belt of Southern Arizona," Journal of Popular Culture, 11, No. 4 (1978), 928-47. (Recreation and leisure in southern Arizona.)
- Myres, Sandra L. "An Arizona Camping Trip: May Banks Stacey's Account of an Outing to Mount Graham in 1879," Arizona and the West, 22 (Winter 1980).
- West, Mark. "A Spectrum of Spectators: Circus Audiences in Nineteenth Century America," Journal of Social History, 15 (Winter 1981).
- *Brissenden, Alan. "Jacobean Tragedy and the Dance," Huntington Library Quarterly, 44, No. 4 (Autumn 1981), 249-62.
- *Shay, Anthony. "Fandangos and Bailes: Dancing and Dance Events in Early California," Southern California Quarterly, 64, No. 2 (Summer 1982), 99-113.

*Wash, Peter J. "Sound Minds and Unsound Bodies: Massachusetts Schools and Mandatory Physical Training," New England Quarterly, 55 (March 1982).

Van Buren, Ernestine. Chautauqua: Its History and Impact on American Culture," Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine, 113, No. 7 (1979), 788-90.