

NASSH Historian Appointed

J. Edmund Welch of West Virginia Institute of Technology has been appointed the historian for the North American Society for Sport History. A concern for the preservation of historical materials of the Society led to the early acceptance of Penn State University Library Archives as the repository of NASSH material. Prof. Welch, who has previously been the historian for the National College Physical Education Association for Men, has begun to arrange for materials to continuously flow into the archives. Official papers of officers, members of the council, and committees should be sent to Ed Welch, Department of Physical Education, West Virginia Institute of Technology, Montgomery, W.Va. 25136.
