

Distinguished Lecture Committee Report

The September 2 memorandum to the Committee included last year's memo to the two newly elected committee members. It also covered the rating system established last year and a request to rank nominees suggested as a result of last year's request for suggestions made at the University of Oregon meeting. This year a brief biographical sketch was attached to each name being considered. Finally, this memo asked for additional candidates to be considered.

A November 3 memo was distributed to the committee which asked that each nominee for the three stated lectures be ranked. A November 22 memo gave the committee the results of the ranking and requested permission to contact the No. 1 candidate by phone for each of the three lectures. As a result, Dr. Betty Spears was selected and agreed to give the John R. Betts Lecture, Dr. Frank Consentino was selected and agreed to give the Max Howell Lecture; and Dr. Margaret Woodhouse was selected and agreed to give the S. C. Staley Lecture.
