

JUNE POLL U.S. SOCCER STADIUMS

With the opening of the Home Depot Center, another stadium bids for the claim of being the best place to attend a soccer game. Here's how the stadiums ranked from best to worst based on the votes of 536 fans.

1. Crew Stadium (Columbus, Ohio)
2. Home Depot Center (Carson, Calif.)
3. Gillette Stadium (Foxboro, Mass.)
4. RFK Stadium (Washington, D.C.)
5. PGE Park (Portland, Ore.)
6. Blackbaud Stadium (Charleston, S.C.)
7. Reliant Stadium (Houston)
8. Lockhart Stadium (Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.)
9. SAS Stadium (Cary, N.C.)
10. Frontier Field (Rochester, N.Y.)

11. Rose Bowl (Pasadena, Calif.)
12. Seahawks Stadium (Seattle)
13. Univ. of Richmond Stadium (Richmond, Va.)
14. Orange Bowl (Miami)
15. Invesco Stadium (Denver)
16. Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego)
17. Memorial Coliseum (Los Angeles)
18. Arrowhead Stadium (Kansas City)
19. Cotton Bowl (Dallas)
20. Spartan Stadium (San Jose)
21. Cardinal Stadium (Naperville, Ill.)
22. Giants Stadium (East Rutherford, N.J.)

23. Dragon Stadium (Southlake, Texas)

JULY POLL OPINION SURVEY

This month, we ask fans for their opinion on a variety of topics. Just like those research firms that call. Only in this case, you can respond at your leisure and not be interrupted during dinner!

Here are the topics:

- The Home Depot Center, the best thing that ever happened to American soccer or overrated?

- American kids or veteran foreigners, which kind of strikers should MLS teams be using?
- Women's World Cup, great to be back home or a big bore?
- MLS Wrap, the best thing that ever happened to MLS on TV or an embarrassment?

You have until July 15, 2003, to vote.

Log on to socceramerica.com and make your picks.