What Trap Shooters Think of "The Most Perfect Repeater"

A representative recently showed one of the new Winchester 12 Gauge Hammerless Repeating Shotguns at the shoot of a well-known gun club. There were forty shooters present and most of them were eager to try or feel of the gun that the trap-shooting world had been looking for. The verdict of the shooters on the new gun is best expressed by their acts. Twenty-eight of them ordered one then and there. This incident is significant. It shows what expert and critical trap shooters think of the latest Winchester. What's more, the enthusiastic endorsement and approval of this, "The Most Perfect Repeater," is not restricted to trap shooters, nor does it seem to have any geographical limitations. It comes from bird and duck hunters as well as trap shooters from all parts of the country. A lone criticism, which we consider a compliment, has reached us. It came from a competitor and was this, "The gun is too good for the money." That is skursly detrimental. Look one of the new guns over at your dealer's or send to us for an illustrated, descriptive circular and decide upon the merits of the gun for yourself.
