Peters Shells—The Famed P BRAND

Mr. Woolfolk Henderson, of Lexington, Ky., was the victor in each of these great races, and in all of them he used PETERS SHELLS, made with "steel where steel belongs." His performance stands without a parallel; no individual shooter and no make of ammunition has ever before won ALL of the world's greatest trap shooting honors, a fact which in itself is a marvelous tribute to Mr. Henderson's marksmanship and the QUALITY of his ammunition. But in addition to this he established a new World's Amateur Record, 98 out of 100, from 22 yards.

Mr. Henderson's scores were as follows: The Race of Champions—For Amateur Championship of the United States, Single Targets, 99 ex 100 from 16 yards. Amateur Championship of the United States, Double Targets, 90 ex 100 from 16 yards. Grand American Handicap, 98 ex 100 from 22 yards. High Average for All Targets, 565 ex 600, was won by Mr. S. A. Huntley, using PETERS Shells, including 200 from 22 yards, 200 from 18 yards, 100 from 16 yards and 50 pairs. QUALITY COUNTS—and the P brand means SHOOTING QUALITY!

PEEKSKILL'S OPENING SHOOT

Heavy Snow Storm Does Not Prevent Good Scoring at Traps.

Peekskill, N. Y., November 21.—The opening shoot of the Peekskill Gun Club was held on Thursday, November 19, at the club grounds, Peekskill, N. Y. For some reason the committee in charge of the shoots held during the past few years have never been able to select a day suitable for trap shooting. The opening shoot this year was no exception to the rule, as on that day a blinding snow storm made trap shooting anything but a pleasure. At the committee meeting held at the Eagle Hotel, in October, the dates of November 18 and 19, were submitted as being about the most desirable ones. Due to tradition, the 19th was selected. On that day a heavy snow storm set in and continued all day, while the 18th was like a Spring day. Durl Spock and Bill Borden had all arrangements made for just such conditions in the way of a large canvas cover covering the shooting platform and a warm and comfortable clubhouse. Dr. Martin, of the White Plains Gun Club, who seldom misses an opportunity to get out to shoot, came up from New York City. Due to the storm, our old friend, Tuthill, from Chester, N. Y., did not arrive until after the program was about half finished, but owing to conditions, he was allowed to shoot up, which he did in very good style, dropping only four targets in his 100, and capturing high handicap prize. Dr. Martin finished second with 94, and Bill Borden was third with 89. J. T. Hyland captured high handicap prize with a total of 93. Hank Stevens, who was in good "finching" condition, topped the professionals with 87. Scores:

FAMOUS TRAP SHOOTER DIES

C. C. Irwin, One of Pittsburgh's Most Popular Shots, Passes Away.

Pittsburgh, Pa., November 21.—Greeting the rising sun with that rare smile that endeared him to hundreds of friends the country over, Charles Crawford Irwin left us forever on the morning of October 12, in his home, "The Oaks," Bellevue. Although the end came after months of suffering, endured with that cheerfulness and courage that marked all his actions, and although we have been expecting it for many weeks, the news brought a feeling of sadness to every man who had the happiness of his acquaintance. Charles Irwin was born August 20, 1877, on the North Side, Pittsburgh, then old Allegheny, and was a son of Thomas W. Irwin. A thorough Pittsburgher, and despite his slight physique as game as men are made, he found his greatest pleasure in trap shooting, and his sunny cheerfulness and native humor made a bright spot in every gathering of the shooters' clan in this section until disease and pain put him out of the game on July 31, 1913. Ever since he has been fighting for his life with that same

CHEERFUL COURAGE THAT MARKED

him on the field of sport. Entering the Homeopathic Hospital over a year ago he remained there for 13 weeks, hanging between life and death and was then removed to his home, where he remained until last April. Thinking that an entire change of climate might help him, he went to Atlantic City, where he was in the care of eminent physicians until September 26, when he made his last journey back to Pittsburgh, and his home, knowing that the end was near. Even though there was no hope, he never lost his cheerfulness, despite the terrible pain he suffered, and to the last remained the cheery courageous gentleman. From Atlantic City last Spring and Summer he corresponded with many friends. Loyal to the last to his favorite sport, he kept his gun beside him, and in talking with friends expressed the hope that he could just once more stand behind the traps with his old shooting comrades and "grind a few" of the targets. And down the long line of hundreds of shooters who competed against him there is not one who is not a friend and admirer of his sportsmanship. Since his illness began, no gathering of trap shooters has been held in this section, where his name was not mentioned in loving regret that he was not present, and at the Western Pennsylvania League meeting last Winter the hundred or more men present united in sending him a message of

GOOD CHEER AND AFFECTION.

He belonged to both State sportsmen's organizations and was a consistent and active friend to the cause of wild life conservation. His illness was a complication of diseases with valvular heart trouble as the principal and deciding factor, and he suffered terrible pain, but never so much that he did not have a kind word or jest for those with whom he came in contact. A lover of all outdoor sports, trap shooting was his favorite diversion and he was a member of the Board of Governors of the Herron Hill Gun Club, and belonged to the Pittsburgh Athletic Association, the Youghiogheny Country Club, the Bellevue Country Club, the Butler Rod and Gun Club, the United Sportsmen of Pennsylvania, and the Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's Association. He was secretary and treasurer of the Thomas W. Irwin Manufacturing Co., and had already made his mark in the business world.—Western Pennsylvania Trap Shooters' League, Edna E. Lautenslager, corresponding secretary.

Chris Raithel, of Deming, N. M., won the Arizona State tournament with Arrow shells, totaling 490x520, one more than B. F. Wilson, of Gallup, N. M., who used Nitro Club shells throughout the shoot. Sportsmen were present from all sections of the Southwest.
